

History of Gallena University

Gallena University is a private university founded in 1897. The 300-acre campus is located at Gallena, a diverse community in a culturally rich region of northern California. The University enrolls 4500 students in twenty-five undergraduate and seven graduate programs with approximately 350 full-time faculty and staff. Our University community is committed to basic education and shuns educational fads of the moment. The student body represents all 50 states and many foreign countries.